LOCAL ABSTRACT FIRM VALUES FOUR PATENTS SIGNED BY PRESIDENTS

SIGNED BY PRESIDENTS

"To all to whom these presents shall come, greetings," reads the salutation of an old sheepskin land patent which was made out to a former Boone County settler, David Westerfield, in 1825. This wonderfully preserved piece of parchment contains the autograph signature of John Quincy Adams, who was then President of the United States. His signature validated the registration made by Westerfield at the district land office of the government at Franklin, for the possession of eighty acres. This old patent, along with a few others, is kept by the Bayless Abstract Co. of Columbia.

Another patent which was signed by John Quincy Adams was made out to Andrew Hanna in 1825. This gave Hanna a title to the seventy-seven acres of Boone County land for which he had made application at the land office at Franklin. This patent and the one made out to Westerfield are old sheepskin parchments on which there are many kinds of fancy printing, all done in script.

There are two other old patents in the possession of the Abstract company which were signed by a President of the United States. These two patents, one made out to James Oliver and the other to John Lewis, contain the autograph signature of Andrew Jackson. The one to Lewis, signed in March 1831, states that the eighty acres for which Lewis applied at Franklin were to be his, "to have and to hold," and "to his heirs and assigns forever."

These are the only ones which have the autograph signatures of Presidents, but there are many others which are signed by the secretaries of the former presidents, Van Buren and Tyler. Except for the brown shading, the result of our age, the parchments appear as new as when they were made out.

DRAMA BECOMING POPULAR

Producing Manager of Local Show Sees Screen Failure.

"The spoken drama is coming back into its own," declared Abel Rosewall, producing manager of a stock company which recently played in Columbia. "The motion picture house is now in its hey day but it will soon drop behind in the race for supremacy, because the motion picture cannot compete with the stage. Within the next decade we will have two distinct types of pictures; the cowboy, the two-gun type which will be shown at the ten cent theaters, and the masterpieces of the screen which will make up the program of the high class theater. There will be no middle ground. The stage will have to supply this."

According to Mr. Rosewall, the audience contributes about eighty per cent to the success or failure of the play. If the people are receptive and responsive, it will make a success if it has only a few strong points. However, if the audience does not appreciate or understand the play, it cannot succeed. Great stage productions, produced by leading theatrical managers, have some times failed because of this, and many plays have been ruined in the first two or three weeks because their producers did not appeal to the emotions of the audience.

The greatest play of all is the human-interest, heart-throb play. People like to see the common everyday experiences acted on the stage. A production true to life and full of smiles as well as tears is certain to be well received by the theatrical public.

The small stock company is the training school for the star of tomorrow. Then the stock company plays to every class of people from the newsboys on the street to the wealthy business man taking a few hours' recreation. It learns to cater to the whims and fancies of every strata of society. Human nature is the same, whether in the slums of New York or a millionaire's district in Los Angeles. Everyone likes to smile and weep a little too, and there is a uni-

REDHEADED CLUB GROWS Organization Now Has 90 Members With 45 Paid Memberships.

Parodies by the score have been composed to the tune of "A Son of Old Missouri" but an original anthem, applied by the members of the Order of the Golden Fleece to this tune in selfish praise of their own radiant tresses, is the latest innovation. At a meeting of the order Tuesday night this new anthem was practiced with much enthusiasm.

DOCTOR MATZKE TO SPEAK Extensive Program for Parents Teachers Association.

Dr. Edith Hedges Matzke of the University will be the principal speaker at the October meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association of the Benton School, which is to be held at 7:30 tonight at the Benton School. Other numbers on the program will include both vocal and instrumental music, readings by Stephens College girls, and community singing.

A membership drive has been launched by the association, which now has forty members, to include in its organization all of the parents in this district. A special appeal is being made to the fathers. A contest has been arranged for tonight to encourage the parents to come. The room having the greatest number of parents in attendance at the meeting tonight will be presented with a suitable picture. With the children interested in this competition, a larger crowd than usual is being expected at this meeting tonight. The program which will be given is:

MISS PFEIFFER MAKES TALK

Says New York Writer Is Held Back Only by His Limitations.

"Get in the market, know what the magazines want, then write your story and send it in," said Miss Pauline M. Pfeiffer, in a talk at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon to students of feature writing in the School of Journalism.

Miss Pfeiffer discussed the possibilities of feature writing for the Vogue, House and Garden, and Vanity Fair magazines. These magazines are highly specialized, with the exception of Vanity Fair, and there is always an opening for one there, she said.

"If you are eager to go to New York, go right ahead," is Miss Pfeiffer's advice. "People in New York are eager and anxious to help you and there is a tendency to give reporters harder work than they can do. Your own limitations are all that keep you back in New York. If you are fitted for your work you can do much; if not, your work will overwhelm you," she continued.

Miss Pfeiffer is a graduate of the School of Journalism and was formerly with the staff of the New York Times and later with Vogue. She also contributed to a number of magazines while in Europe.

Miss Day and Mr. Bareuther Are on Minneapolis Tribune.

David Bareuther of Winona, Minn., who was a student in the School of Journalism last year, is working on the copy desk of the Minneapolis Tribune, according to word from Miss Doris Day. Miss Day, who lives in Fairmont, Minn., was also a student in the School of Journalism last year. She is now assistant editor of the women's organization department of the Minneapolis Journal.

Both Mr. Bareuther and Miss Day may return to the University next fall.

Warren Moore to Visit Parents. Warren H. Moore, a graduate of the School of Engineering, will come to Columbia Saturday to visit his parents during the week-end at their home at 610 Turner avenue.

At a meeting of the order Tuesday night this new anthem was practiced with much enthusiasm.

It was decided that the organization should be represented in the Savitar by a full page, including a picture of the group, and that it should also have a float in the Homecoming parade. There are approximately ninety members in the order with forty-five paid memberships. Each meeting witnesses an increase in the membership of the order.

Before the business meeting a program arranged by Miss Ruth Taylor was given. William Moulding talked on Andrew Jackson, a red-headed president, and John N. Singleton played two piano solos. The president of the order, A. C. Tripp, concluded the program with a discussion of famous red-headed people.

REDUCES DISEASE IN HERDS

Eradication of Tuberculosis Is Possible.

St. Louis, Oct. 18.—Complete eradication of tuberculosis among cattle is a practical possibility, Dr. J. A. Kierman, chairman of the International Tuberculosis Committee and connected with the Department of Agriculture, declared here recently before the American Veterinary Medical Association.

Doctor Kierman placed before the convention figures showing that cattle infection of this character has been greatly reduced and is now comparatively light.

"In 37 states, comprising 46.2 per cent of the area of this country and containing more than 40 per cent of the cattle of the country, there is less than 1 per cent of tuberculosis," said Doctor Kierman. "The livestock owners in these states have decided that the disease shall be eradicated. In this area there is such an active sentiment against the plague that it does not seem too much to expect that within 10 years it will be entirely eradicated or reduced to a minimum."

WRS. ROSA WRITES ARTICLE

Home Economics Teacher Contributes to Magazine.

The first issue of the new magazine, "Vocational Education" contains an article written by Mrs. Bess Naylor Rosa, assistant professor of home economics in the University. The article is entitled "What Shall We Teach as Home Management in Secondary Schools?" and was presented by Mrs. Rosa at the fifteenth annual meeting of the National Society for Vocational Education at Kansas City, January, 1922.

It deals with the home as the natural laboratory for the home management problems of the girl in home economics, after basic courses have been taken in high school.

The University Library has received a copy of this new magazine which is published by the J. B. Lippincott Co., Phil.

MISSOURI FARM PRICES DROP

Decline Due to Delayed Movement of Crops During Strike.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 19.—Missouri farm prices during September this year showed a tendency to decline, while the movement of farm crops was seriously delayed by the railroad strike, according to the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service.

PERSIMMON IS RISEN FROM LOWLY POSITION AND THREATENS APPLES

T. J. Talbert, professor of horticulture in the College of Agriculture, calls attention to the opportunity for profit in the culture of persimmons. The persimmon is probably the surest cropping fruit we have, and it can be grown over a wider range of soil than apples. Some persons think they are as good to eat as grapes, prunes or figs, and they are consequently commencing to take an important place on our markets. Moreover, the demand is growing. The trees come into bearing at from 5 to 7 years of age, a little earlier than apple trees.

The late Col. J. C. Evans of near Kansas City, owned, about fifteen years ago, the only extensive persimmon orchard in the state. He was a successful fruit-grower for many years, and he said it was the most valuable crop he had. He handled the crop in boxes and crates, like strawberries and received an average price of 10 cents a quart.

Nowadays, though the gay young sophomore's as gay as ever, he's no "college dandy."

That bird no longer exists except in musical comedies and Sunday supplements.

To be sure the real college student has a style all his own and is particular where he gets his clothes—

But jazz? Never!!

We know because we're in constant touch not only at the "four corners," but through our representative who goes to take orders in the college towns.

This Fall it's a high button sack suit with a perfectly soft front that's all the go—either three or four button.

Lest our substantial business friends think we've overlooked their special preference let's say that we're ready for them, too—with just what they want.

Not only in style—but price.
